

Hi, my name is Shannon Clifton and I'm the National Account Manager for H&R Block

I've been working with H&R Block for the past 4 hiring seasons, helping thousands of locations across the country find great talent. Whether it's increasing applicant volume, improving efficiency or something unique to the moment, my support team and I will work with you to create custom solutions to help you make great hires.

As you all know, seasonal hiring for tax and accounting professionals is ramping up across the country right now. Indeed has a suite of tools to account for this growth, and 2 specifically that many H&R Block locations have had great success with.

The first is Indeed Resume, which allows you to proactively search for the talent you need and reach out to them directly.

The second is Indeed Central, a tool that gives you access to Corporate approved, ready to use templates to create quality job postings in minutes.

So scroll down this page to learn more about how each solution can help. If you have any questions or would like to learn more about how we can create a custom solution for your location, please click the link next to this video or fill out the form below, and I will reach out to you as soon as possible.

Thank you, and Happy Hiring!
